Camp Meeting 2017

How do we find the words to describe this year's Camp Meeting. As I sit here today trying to find the adequate words to describe our Camp Meeting 2017, I must admit it is one of the hardest things I have ever tried to do. The awesome presence of the Holy Spirit was so impactful and refreshing it is hard to explain because of the intensity of worship. That is something you have to experience for yourself.

From the very beginning to the last amen each service was powerfully arranged by the Lord. I have had many people say to me they could not remember such a move of the Lord in a meeting like we experienced. All the praise and honor belongs to Him.

Another question which is being asked is; what brought about this dynamic outpouring? By no means do I want it to appear that I could fully answer that question, but I do believe there are factors which brought openness and a welcoming to the Spirit. There were several days of prayer and fasting long before we gathered in Beckley at FWC. There was an expectation as people entered the house of worship. I have discovered when expectation walks through the door anything is possible. I believe when the State Council and I agreed to have communion and feet washing in every morning service it brought a spirit of unity and humility among us.

Pastor Ed Lipsey from South Cleveland Church of God, our night evangelist, was mightily anointed and used of the Lord to deliver a word to us. The impact of those messages are still being received and felt. In the morning services as J B Hurt, Harold Newsome, Mitch Bias and I told our stories of God's provision and victories it knitted us together with the understanding that if God could do that for them He can certainly do the same for me. If you did not get to hear those messages go to cogfwc.org and click on fwc livestream WV Camp Meeting. The services are archived and can be viewed there.

My prayer is for the Holy Ghost to do in every local church of WV what He did in our Camp Meeting. Will you join with me and set aside time during every week to fast and pray for the Spirit to enter every church in our state and bring true repentance, forgiveness, deliverance and revival that will sweep across this nation.
